FROM:

J. Kenneth McDonald
Chief, DCI History Staff

SUBJECT:

Employment Application [redacted]

STAT

1. As I mentioned last week, I'm sending along a personal resumé and letter of application from a former student of mine, [redacted]

STAT

2. I taught [redacted] I a professor at George Washington University. I recommended him for his job 1979-80 with [redacted] where he did first-rate work, and I've kept in touch with him now and again since then.

STAT

3. I have a very high opinion [redacted] character, intellect and personality. He has initiative, tact and judgment, combined with good writing skills, a sound education and abundant intellectual curiosity. His experience at the Department of Energy means that he is acculturated to government work in highly sensitive areas. I think, however, that CIA could make much better use of his talents.

STAT

4. Although I have no doubt [redacted] has the brainpower to become an able DDI analyst, I think he is an outstanding candidate for the Career Training program. In any event, I recommend him enthusiastically for consideration.
